Deja Blue demonstrates a new level of pure blues emotion and musical expertise. It features classic originals like “A Stand By Your Woman Man”, and it demonstrates the versatility of vocal styles in cuts such as the duet “Too Late” with Doug Sahm and the country gospel “Where The Sun Never Goes Down” (with a compelling, almost possessed, vocal by Strehli). Here are a few quotes about the album, "skillfully performed. Smart and tasteful decision making is reflected in her song selection, choice of guest artists, and musical accents....eminently satisfying..."
