This is Backbones 3rd studio album and released on ISG records on the 30th November 2018 to coincide with a major advertising and promotion campaign which will take the boys through to 2020. Inspired by the Old Blues Men of the Mississippi Delta and the bands experiences of following in their footsteps. This is by far the best album and positions them as one of the most exciting contemporary blues bands around at the moment. The album will be available on iTunes, Spotify and Amazon digital.

2018 has been a great year for the band, playing at many festivals up and down the UK and racking up an impressive roster of support slots along the way. The end of 2018 saw the band take to the main stage at the legendary King Biscuit Blues festival in Arkansas after another successful tour of the Mississippi delta, and finishing the tour with a brilliant gig at the world renowned Ground Zero Blues club in Clarksdale which has been voted the number one blues venue in the United States. GZ has been adopted by the band as their spiritual home and to quote Bill Luckett, Mayor of Clarskdale and co-owner of Ground Zero Blues Club “These boys are bringing blues back to the Delta”

Backbone are a band that have clearly worked hard at what they do. With a tight rhythm section, creative guitars and keys and soulful vocals, they deliver a sound that grooves when it swings and punches well above its weight when it rocks. However all the hard work is paying off says John Mitchell from Blues in Britain “Definitely one to put on my must see again list”
