Throughout the career of Pappo's Blues there would be frequent lineup changes and despite the recognition in Argentine's rock circles, the band would receive no airplay. Later in the 1970's Napolitano would spend some time in Brazil and in Europe. While in England he would play with the likes of Peter Green (FLEetwood Mac) and Lemmy (Motorhead). Once he returned to Argentina, Napolitano would form the heavy metal band Riff. With them Pappo would finally taste success. ---deafsparrow.com
