At first, neither Tom nor Mark gave a thought to the idea of forming a double slide guitar band, but just kept swapping licks in the living room. Then Mark saw Ry Cooder and David Lindley perform together at the New Orleans Jazz Festival. He immediately thought, "That's what Tom and I do." The two, along with singer Gina Leigh and a rotating cast of drummers and bassists, formed Delta Moon. Their idea was to weave the two slide guitars into one big sound, in the tradition of great two-guitar bands like the Rolling Stones, the Allman Brothers, and early Fleetwood Mac. --- jayfan.com
