This Dutch blues band was formed in the Hague around 1967, becoming a regular outfit from 1969.

Although best known in the Netherlands, Livin' Blues also gained a following elsewhere in Europe, especially in Poland.

The band recorded from 1968, cutting a few singles with its first album coming in 1969. The band appears to have drifted from the limelight after the early 80s but interest in its recorded work remained high into the new millennium.
