

Livin Blues – Bamboozle (1972)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 16 July 2010 22:24 - Last Updated Wednesday, 07 April 2021 20:10

Livin Blues – Bamboozle (1972)

01. L.B.Boogie (Nicko Christiansen, Teddy Oberg, John La Grand) - 4:11
02. Sunrise (Oberg) - 2:36
03. Keep On (Christiansen, Oberg) - 3:16
04. Hitch-Hikin' (Uitvlugt, Oberg, Ruud van Buuren, La Grand) - 6:03
05. Bamboozle Song (Christiansen, Oberg, van Buuren) - 2:39
06. Overture (Andrew Lloyd Webber, Tim Rice) - 3:57
07. Black Night (Jessie Mae Robinson) - 7:23
08. Big City Man (Christiansen, Oberg) - 3:44

- Teddy Oberg - lead guitar
- Nicko Christiansen - vocals, saxophone, bongos
- John La Grand - harmonica
- Ruud Van Buuren - bass
- Jonny Le Jeune – drums

Livin Blues and Cuby + the Blizzards were the best Dutch blues bands of the late 60s and early 70s. Bamboozle is amongst Livin Blues best albums and were they have a more grown-up sound. The singer really stands out with his husky voice and the harmonica player is a real lust. L.B. Boogie is a real classic and easily stands in the shadow of John Mayall's Room to Move. It's a perfect CD to have on the road late at night and play full blast. You want an original and good blues record then this is your buy. The Russians were already loving them in the 70s.
---Albert Goedhart, amazon.com

download (mp3 @320 kbs):

Livin Blues – Bamboozle (1972)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 16 July 2010 22:24 - Last Updated Wednesday, 07 April 2021 20:10

yandex mediafire ulozto solidfiles global.files

back