Mason Family Business - Conquer the World (2015)

1. This Man's Castle 2. Mostly I Winnit 3. Grindstone 4. Conquer the World 5. Let Change Happen / I Get Things Done 6. Cold Cold Cold 7. Self Control 8. So Jive 9. Waiting for the Next Big Thing 10. Friendship 11. Don't Cry 12. Long Way to Go 13. If Only This Were Snow
Paul Mason - Horns, Vocals, Keys Don Veilleux - Guitars, Bass Lee Caron – Drums

Some of these songs have been around for a while, and some are shiny and new. The thread that holds them together is that they seem to play on heavy rotation inside my head...and I'm truly thrilled (and somewhat frightened) that you'll be able to hear what it sounds like up there!!! I hope that they touch you in some way...maybe remind you of your own journey.

This album was put together on a wing and a prayer, so it's not picture perfect. But it's all about the songs anyway. Give it a rip, turn it up, and get down with your dancing self !!

Mason Family Business? We come from a big family. Our grandparents were musicians. Our father was a musician. We are musicians. Our kids are musicians. I suspect their kids will be musicians too. And so on.

This project is a blueprint for the DNA Jam of all time. My goal was, and still is, to play these songs with a full family band...and perhaps launch a whole new kind of family tradition!

Note to my current employers... "Grindstone" is about this other job I used to have! :)

On the inside cover I am sitting in the band room at my grandmother's piano, holding my father's sax...yes... the same sax as he is holding. My earliest childhood memory is of sitting on that bench listening to my Gramma striding and gliding on that piano, singing her favorites, from hymns to tin pan alley. The summer breeze wafted through the open window softly billowing the white gauze curtains. ---cdbaby.com
