Delta Roux are from Austin, Texas and consist of Harry Bodine (guitars, slide guitars, National steel) and Mike Milligan (vocals, percussion). Backed by a couple of the city's top bass players and drummers, they now deliver BAD WIND BLOWIN' – a strong debut on which some of the most crackling US blues/roots styles are merged in a fascinating way: Delta blues, New Orleans funk, Louisiana swamp blues and Memphis Deep Soul are all part of the Delta Roux gumbo. And it's all fresh, because Delta Roux has come into this world only a year ago! Their songs are fresh, too. Instead of cooking up another batch of trusty standards, the band relies on the songwriting skills of slideguitar master Harry Bodine, who presents – sometimes co-operating with his partner Mike Milligan – a varied and rich bunch of original tunes based on the blues. Without sticking to the established blues formats too much. And, no keys are pressed on this disc! Just strings, vocal chords and drums are used - that's all. ---last.fm
