Commemorating the 60th anniversary of Leadbelly's death this compilation contains many rare and previously unheard Leadbelly performances as well as classic songs that influenced everyone from Bob Dylan to Nirvana.

Huddie 'Leadbelly' Ledbetter was born in 1888 in Louisiana and life was hard from the off. By the time he was 27 he found himself in jail and from then on until 1933, when he was discovered by musicologists John and Alan Lomax, he was in and out of jail for various crimes including murder. On this release we hear the many facets of Leadbelly. He plays piano, accordion, dances, talks of his life and, of course, displays his masterful talents on his beloved 12-string all accompanied by that magisterial voice.
