

James Murray - Floods (2012)

Written by bluesever

Thursday, 19 December 2013 17:04 - Last Updated Friday, 20 December 2013 21:11

James Murray - Floods (2012)

FLOODS

01 First Falls [00:03:57] 02 Greenlands [00:06:12] 03 A Place To Stand [00:05:56] 04 Floods [00:06:55] 05 Still Waters Rise [00:04:58] 06 Greenlands Lament [00:07:12] 07 Hold Your Breath [00:05:32]

On the flood plain where James Murray grew up, twin rivers rose each winter fed by rainfall from nearby Welsh mountains. Breaking their banks they swept over pastures and hedgerows, tore at the fabric of the land and isolated remote villages. It was here, in a makeshift studio on high ground, that James began to explore sound using scavenged instruments and homemade electronics.

Floods returns to that landscape; an acknowledgment and celebration of the destructive and regenerative power of the waters. It is also an attempt by the artist to reconcile with his personal floods, those mental waters that rise to submerge the will, that can at times be opposed and must at others be allowed to overwhelm. --- slowcraft.bandcamp.com download: uploaded anonfiles yandex 4shared solidfiles mediafire mega filecloudio nornar

back