Albert Guinovart is one of the most active, successful, and versatile of musicians of his generation from Spain. Born in Barcelona in 1962, he began his piano studies at the Conservatori Superior Municipal de Barcelona, which culminated in London with Maria Curcio, for whom he was an assistant. At the same time, he experienced, from the very beginning, a need to create his own compositions.

As a pianist Guinovart, has performed throughout the world: Europe, South and North America, as well as Japan, Australia, and New Zealand. He has collaborated with a list of acclaimed singers that includes the late Victòria dels Àngels, María Bayo, Barbara Hendricks, Julia Migenes, Emilio Aragón, Juan Diego Flórez, and Nacho Duato, and has performed under the direction of famed conductors Christopher Hogwood, Franz Paul Decker, Lawrence Foster, James Loughram, A. Garcia Navarro, Edmon Colomer, Josep Pons, Salvador Mas Conde, and Enrique Diemecke, among others. ---albertguinovart.com
