

Vivaldi - Andromeda Liberata (2004)

Written by bluesever

Saturday, 19 February 2011 10:17 - Last Updated Wednesday, 25 June 2014 10:19

---

Vivaldi - Andromeda Liberata (2004)

CD1

- 01 Sinfonia play
- 02 Popoli amici, in questo fausto giorno
- 03 In su queste sponde
- 04 Quando chiudere pensai
- 05 E di Giove e di Danae inclita prole
- 06 Sciolta dai ceppi e giu so
- 07 Un occhio amabile
- 08 O ingrata
- 09 Non ha tranquillo il cor
- 10 Signor, qual improvviso dolor
- 11 Si rinforzi in te spene
- 12 Da che il destin mi trasse
- 13 Se una sorta di strali Amor avesse play
- 14 O vicende funeste de' mortali!
- 15 Ruscelletti limpidetti
- 16 Figlia, non qui dimore
- 17 Madre, lascia ch'io senta in prima il core
- 18 Troppo ingrata mi sembri
- 19 Mi piace e mi diletta
- 20 Al talamo di Perseo
- 21 Madre. lascia ch'io senta in prima il core
- 22 Dall'alto seggio

Cd2

- 01 Che sare, cuore affilto
- 02 Lo so, barbari fati
- 03 La tua nemica sorte
- 04 Peni chi vuol penar
- 05 Pria che la dea triforme
- 06 Dalle superne sfere lieto, Imeneo discendi play
- 07 Hai gir vinto due volte
- 08 Chi e fenice ad ogni foco
- 09 Pria che del sole i rai

Vivaldi - Andromeda Liberata (2004)

Written by bluesever

Saturday, 19 February 2011 10:17 - Last Updated Wednesday, 25 June 2014 10:19

---

10 Sovvente il sole

11 Perseo, Andromeda, amici

12 Con dolce mormorio

13 Perseo, che tardi più

14 Sposo amato _ Cara sposa

play

15 Riconosco in voi

Simone Kermes · Katerina Beranova Anna Bonitatibus · Mark Tucker Max Emanuel Cencic
La Stagione Armonica Venice Baroque Orchestra Andrea Marcon - director

Here's an intriguing mystery. In 2002 French musicologist Olivier Fourés came across the manuscript of this serenata, dated September 18, 1726, in the archives of the Conservatorio Benedetto Marcello in Venice and recognised one of the numbers as an aria known to be by Vivaldi. Was the whole thing by Vivaldi, or was it a pasticcio, the work of several composers?

In his booklet-note, Fourés suggests that Andromeda liberata was written to celebrate the return from Rome of Cardinal Ottoboni, patron of Corelli and Alessandro Scarlatti, and he claims, not altogether convincingly, to find allusions to the cardinal in the anonymous libretto. As to the music, he nails his colours to the fence, concluding that 'even if it is a pasticcio, it was Vivaldi who in general elaborated the piece'. Archiv shows discretion in billing it as by 'Vivaldi and others'.

What of the piece itself? At the beginning, Perseus has already slain the monster ravaging the countryside and set Andromeda free from the rock to which she has been chained. He is in love with her, but her heart is set on Daliso, a young foreigner who prefers his freedom. The other characters are Andromeda's mother, Cassiope, and the shepherd Meliso, a spokesman for the Ethiopian people. In the end, Andromeda does the right thing by marrying Perseus. (Fourés sees Perseus as Ottoboni, Andromeda as Venice, and Daliso as the difficulties the banished cardinal had to overcome before returning.)

The serenata, in two parts, consists of the usual chain of recitatives and da capo arias; there are brief contributions by the chorus, and a love duet as the penultimate number. The music is delightful. After the Sinfonia and opening recitative comes a vigorous aria for Meliso (the splendid Anna Bonitatibus) with trumpets and drums, the chorus crying 'Viva Perseo, viva!', the triple-time rhythm varied by hemiolas. Andromeda has an aria with cello obbligato in which she expresses her feelings for Daliso, and an arioso, heard twice, where she begs her mother for time to decide. Both are touchingly sung by Simone Kermes. She also opens the second part

Vivaldi - Andromeda Liberata (2004)

Written by bluesever

Saturday, 19 February 2011 10:17 - Last Updated Wednesday, 25 June 2014 10:19

---

railing against the fates with a cheerful aria featuring the horns.

This sense of the music belying the words is also to be felt in the aria Perseus sings after his rejection, which trips along in a gigue-like measure. More searching is 'Sovvente il sole', a Metastasian metaphor aria with violin obbligato. This is the one known to be by Vivaldi: the rich-toned Max Emanuel Cencic, here and throughout, shows himself to be in the same league as David Daniels and Andreas Scholl.

Andrea Marcon directs with an infectiously joyous brio, guilty only of allowing some over-exuberant vocal decoration. I enjoyed this set enormously: do try it. -- Richard Lawrence, Gramophone [1/2005] download: uploaded yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega zalivalka filecloudio

anonfiles
oboom

back