

Cal Tjader – La Onda Va Bien (1980)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 10 December 2010 20:02 - Last Updated Friday, 08 August 2014 13:37

Cal Tjader – La Onda Va Bien (1980)

1. Speak Low
2. Serengeti
3. Star Eyes
4. Mambo Mindoro
5. Aleluia
6. I Remember You
7. Linda Chicana
8. Sabor

play

Personnel:

Cal Tjader - vibes

Mark Levine - piano & Fender Rhodes

Roger Glenn - flute & percussion

Vince Lateano - drums & percussion

Rob Fisher - bass

Poncho Sanchez - congas & percussion

Callen Radcliffe Tjader, Jr. a.k.a. Cal Tjader (July 16, 1925–May 5, 1982) was a Latin jazz musician, though he also explored various other jazz idioms. Unlike other American jazz musicians who experimented with the music from Cuba, the Caribbean, and Latin America, he never abandoned it, performing it until his death.

Tjader primarily played the vibraphone. He was also accomplished on the drums, bongos, congas, timpani, and the piano. He worked with numerous musicians from several cultures. He is often linked to the development of Latin Rock and Acid Jazz. Although fusing jazz with Latin music is often categorized as "Latin Jazz" (or, earlier, "Afro-Cuban Jazz"), Tjader's output

Cal Tjader – La Onda Va Bien (1980)

Written by bluesever

Friday, 10 December 2010 20:02 - Last Updated Friday, 08 August 2014 13:37

swung freely between both styles.

He won a Grammy in 1980 for his album La Onda Va Bien, capping off a career that spanned over forty years.

download: uploaded yandex 4shared mediafire solidfiles mega zalivalka filecloudio
anonfiles
oboom

back