Red Snapper are a British instrumental band founded in London in 1993 by Ali Friend (double bass), Richard Thair (drums), and David Ayers (guitar). The three core members are also joined by various guest musicians and vocalists on different records. According to music journalist, Jason Ankeny (Allmusic) "the British acid jazz trio were notable for their pioneering synthesis of acoustic instruments and electronic textures". In May 2011 the band are releasing 'Key', their seventh album on V2 Benelux with original band members Rich Thair (drums), Ali Friend (double bass/vocals) and David Ayers (guitar). They are joined by jazz saxophonist Tom Challenger and guest vocalists Gavin Clarke (UNKLE, Clayhill) and Mercury Prize nominee Eliza Carthy. The band are following up the album with an extensive tour of Europe throughout the summer of 2011.

Red Snapper – brytyjski zespół grający instrumentalną muzykę stanowiącą mieszankę wielu różnych gatunków, m.in. jazzu, rocka, hip-hopu, bluesa i muzyki elektronicznej. Został założony w 1993 roku w Londynie przez Ali'ego Frienda (gitara basowa), Richarda Thaira (perkusja) i Davida Ayersa (gitara). W nagraniach gościnnie brali też udział różni muzycy i wokaliści. Grupa ogłosiła zawieszenie działalności w 2002 roku, po czym reaktywowała się 16 czerwca 2007 roku. W maju 2011 zespół wydaje 'Key', ich siódmy album.
