

Usher – Looking 4 Myself (2012)

Written by bluelover

Friday, 08 June 2012 21:54 - Last Updated Thursday, 31 August 2017 11:38

---

Usher – Looking 4 Myself (2012)

01 – Can't Stop Won't Stop (Feat. Will.I.Am & Keith Harris) 02 – Scream 03 – Climax 04 – I Care For U 05 – Show Me 06 – Lemme See (Feat. Rick Ross) 07 – Twisted (Feat. Pharrell) 08 – Dive 09 – What Happened To U (Feat. Noah Shebib) 10 – Looking 4 Myself (Feat. Luke Steele) 11 – Numb (Feat. Axel Hedfors, Steve Angello, Sebastian Ingrosso, Alessandro Lindblad, Klas Ahlund) 12 – Lessons For The Lover 13 – Sins Of My Father 14 – Euphoria (Feat. Steve Angello, Sebastian Ingrosso, Axel Hedfors) 15 – I.F.U. 16 – Say The Words (Feat. Surahn Sid) 17 – 2nd Round 18 – Hot Thing (Feat. A$ap Rocky)

Usher was pushing his "revolutionary pop" concept as early as 2010, when he told StyleList, "I love that people are talking about the new hair, it represents who I am now and the creative movement of revolutionary pop." Prior to the release of his seventh studio album, he was doing it more than ever, quite likely encouraged by a Top Five Hot 100 collaboration with mainstream dance kingpin David Guetta ("Without You"). With rare exception, revolutionary pop as presented on Looking 4 Myself sounds just like contemporary pop-oriented R&B, or European dance-pop, or some combination of the two. Compared to Usher's previous album, this is weighted more heavily toward dance-pop, much of which is functional and well made but unremarkable. The set is front-loaded with two such numbers. "Can't Stop Won't Stop," a typically savvy production from will.i.am and partner Keith Harris, incorporates flashes of commercial dubstep and a synthesized version of that escalating wordless melody from Billy Joel's "Uptown Girl." The Max Martin/Shellback-produced "Scream," a Top 20 hit by the time the album was released, is a pummeling dancefloor track with a mindless seduction theme. Next is the stellar Diplo collaboration "Climax," a bittersweet, 100% modern ballad that creates tension with space. It's more moving than what precedes and follows, but there are other highlights and a couple pleasantly surprising twists. "Lemme See," featuring Rick Ross, is a slithering, low-slung jam -- one of Usher's best. The easygoing yet emotive title track, a cross between new wave and soft rock with an appearance from Luke Steele (the Sleepy Jackson, Empire of the Sun), could pass for a cover of a missing track from the back half of the first N.E.R.D. album. Ironically, that's the singer's boldest move. While Usher's talent as a vocalist adds some depth to the producer-driven field of dance music, he's more of a creative force when he's working with slower, soul-rooted material. There's no shame in riding the wave, especially when

Usher – Looking 4 Myself (2012)

Written by bluelover

Friday, 08 June 2012 21:54 - Last Updated Thursday, 31 August 2017 11:38

---

you can do it better than anyone else. Calling it revolutionary is disingenuous. ---Andy Kellman, AllMusic Review download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex 4shared mega mediafire uloz.to cloudmailru gett

back