Laura & Meg Baird: While making this record, we felt taken back to our earliest recordings in the early 90's—when we would hole up with a Tascam 4-track cassette recorder (Portastudio 246, R.I.P.), and had an assortment of homemade cassettes-only releases available at open mics scattered through central New Jersey. We'd really like to thank the Grapefruit label for inviting us to work together on something that brought us both so close to that time and process. ---

Influenced by Appalachian mountain music, contemporary outsider folk, and Library of Congress recordings of their great-great uncle, I.G. Greer, sisters Laura and Meg Baird have been performing together since 2001. Pairing their sibling harmonies with intimate acoustic guitar and banjo playing, their collection of songs includes haunting versions of traditional favorites, ballads and original compositions. --- thebairdsisters.com
