

V. Rose - Forever After (2014)

Written by bluelover

Monday, 23 June 2014 15:36 - Last Updated Thursday, 31 August 2017 12:12

V. Rose - Forever After (2014)

01. No Better U (Glee Club Intro) 02. No Better U 03. Nothing for Love 04. Am I Trending? (feat. Flame) 05. Forever Endeavor (feat. Shonlock) 06. When He Finds You 07. Worshipping Tonight (feat. Da T.R.U.T.H.) 08. Forget About the World 09. Crown Thief 10. :(11. Tortured Mind 12. King Kong's Skyline 13. Turn Up Your Light (Bonus Track) [feat. KJ-52]

I bought this for my daughter who is thirteen. She absolutely loves it. It really targets what she goes through as a teenager and helps her gain strength. She's starting high school this year and she's gonna need music like this. I encourage all parents to purchase this for their daughter. Am I Trending is a banger that really hits home with young girls. Christians stand up to this wicked music industry that's trying to destroy these kids. God has given us a weapon to fight back, but we're so judgemental that we can't even see what he is doing with these Christian artists. Christian rap saved me from secular rap and I thank God. Jesus healed men by using spit and you mean to tell me He can't use rap. God bless. --- ricodose, amazon.com

V. Rose was born in Sacramento, CA and began singing at age 6. During her teenage years, she felt the Lord calling her to create relevant, Christ-centered music to reach the world, especially her peers. Her mother helped V start her first singing group with her best friend Candice. The duo, known as Harmony, sang everywhere from local churches to major platforms. At the age of 15, V's manager brought the group to noted producer, 'SPEC' to produce Harmony's new album. SPEC fell in love with the girls on the spot. V. Rose, determined to persevere, worked at Jack in the Box to pay for the group's studio time!

V. Rose - Forever After (2014)

Written by bluelover

Monday, 23 June 2014 15:36 - Last Updated Thursday, 31 August 2017 12:12

In 2005, the group disbanded. Not willing to give up on the vision that God gave her and having no other options, V called her producer, SPEC. Before long, V signed a deal with SPECHOUSE MEDIA which assisted her in gaining more exposure-especially in northern California.

Since then, V. Rose featured on two of FLAME's songs from the album Captured, including the hit single "Surrender." V's voice captivated listeners worldwide with her performance on the single. Shortly after, V. Rose signed to Clear Sight Music. Her debut album, self-titled "V. Rose," releases in stores and online on August 16, 2011. This album is an amazing fusion of Christian Contemporary, Pop & Rock. --- newreleasetuesday.com download: yandex mega

back