Fuchsia - Fuchsia II From Psychedelia to a Distant Place (2013)

1. Melancholy Road (4:23) 2. The Girl From Kandahar (4:25) 3. Lost Generations (4:16) 4. Fuchsia Song (4:14) 5. I'll Remember Her Face, I'll Remember Her Name (3:43) 6. Rainbow Song (5:19) 7. Crossing the Big C (4:51) 8. The Waves (3:21) 9. Piper At The Gates Of Time (4:31) - Tony Duant / guitar and bass - Lloyd Gyi / drums - Emily Duffill / cello - Jo Bara / cello - Tracy Wan / violin - Lidia Bara / violin - Suzy Toomey / accordion - Isobel Durant / backing vocals

In a lifetime of music strange things happen. Like Fuchsia, the album that disappeared in '71 and went on to become a cult classic 40 years later. Dream, and never give up. And so, after all these years, comes "Fuchsia II: From Psychedelia to a Distant Place".

2013 sees the arrival of Fuchsia 2- the first proper full Fuchsia studio album since their debut effort 41 years previously. Fuchsia 2 contains fresh compositions and one revised track The Rainbow Song from the original band's recordings. Again penned and sung by Tony Durant, this new songs retain the ground-breaking spirit of the original Fuchsia. The music on Fuchsia 2 resonates with the same symphonic complexity and melodic depth while possessing a fresh and vibrant contemporaneous energy. .....

The result is music that retains the original Fuchsia spirit and adds a fresh contemporary sheen that does not detract from the grandeur and scope of their original vision. Fuchsia 2 adds to the legend that is Fuchsia. It also creates a new contemporary soundscape and lyrical space for Fuchsia's musical magic to shine once again. ---John O'Regan, fuchsia.bandcamp.com download (mp3 @320 kbs):

yandex 4shared mega mediafire zalivalka cloudmailru

back