Don't feel guilty if, after spinning this record/CD (or whatever you're spinning nowadays) for the first time, you'll find yourself humming, whistling or otherwise behaving extremely poppy. This amazing compilation of Vivaldi's hitherto barely known operatic arias could fool anybody into thinking they listen to the Baroque's vocal greatest hits or simply hits, if you feel like supplementing the tunes with imaginary drumbeats. Add to it that (a) Naive has been consistently "monopolizing" the greatest vocal talents of our times; and (b) that most of them are represented on this record and you have a sure winner in your collection. The combination of these amazingly contemporaneously sounding pieces with voices of Magdalena Kozena, Sarah Mingardo, Roberta Invernizzi, Sonia Prina, a perfect comme ucellino soprano of Gemma Bertagnolli and a haunting contratenor of Phillippe Jaroussky (among others) creates an explosion of joie de vivre rarely heard on any recording, classic or otherwise. Must have for everybody who sings while showering. –M.Lowry

I have only listened to this album a couple of times but I really like it for two main reasons: the range of music presented on the CD as well as the quality of performers used. The music is uplifting, touching and passionate. I loved every single minute of it and will be using the album to find out more about Vivaldi operas and the artists used in the CD. –S. McBride

If anyone still needs to be convinced that Antonio Vivaldi is one of the greatest composers of all time, he, or she, should listen to this magnificent disc. The recording contains selected arias from four of Vivaldi's operas: Juditha Triumphans, L'Olimpiade, Orlando finto pazzo, and La verità in cimento. Performance is divided among Jean-Christophe Spinosi, Rinaldo Alessandrini, and Alessandro De Marchi, their ensembles, and the several participating vocalists. They are all terrific. The arias performed span the range in human emotion -- fear, hope, love, rage, horror, and joy -- and all are depicted with the inimitable and incomparable artistry of Signor Vivaldi. Every selection is a jewel in its own right. The sound has great clarity and sonority. This is as perfect a disc as one could ever hope to obtain in this genre. Viva Vivaldi! –Jerry H. Kaufman
