To celebrate the 10th anniversary of the White Stripes' Elephant, the Third Man Records' "Vault" subscription series is releasing Nine Miles From the White City— a live album recorded at Chicago's Aragon Ballroom in 2003. It's a double LP featuring 26 songs. That's a taste of "The Hardest Button to Button" from White City up there. The Vault package also includes a 7" featuring demos of the Elephant tracks "I Want to Be the Boy to Warm Your Mother's Heart" (check out the snippet below) and "Little Acorns". And as if that wasn't enough, they're also throwing in a photo book documenting the Elephant recording sessions; it features photos by David Swanson. Naturally, these things will be packaged beautifully: One LP of the live album will be on red vinyl; the other one will be pressed on white vinyl. The 7" will be pressed on "opaque red vinyl with black whisps." --- hasitleaked.com

Specjalny, koncertowy album jest dostępny tylko dla wiernych fanów, którzy zapiszą się do klubu wytwórni Jacka White'a. To właśnie ta firma wydaje płytę. "Nine Miles From the White City" ma zawierać 26 piosenek.
