Minneapolis based rock Scarlet Haze has released her new album One Bad Bitch. The full-length record is an appealing mixture of melodic rock anthems and beautiful ballads, between Halestorm and Fly Leaf. It includes Hero, released as a tribute to the Japanese earthquake and tsunami victims.

They deliver 12 songs loaded of stylish and refreshing rock sounds, reminiscent of 80s with a sexy modern touch such as Blame it on you or Can't get Enough. It is both intriguing and glam . They put the fire with the strong opener Blame it on You and they continue to take you in a superbe and intense journey in the rest of the album. Instantly unforgettable melodies and infectious vibe are prominent. For sure, one of their strength is their ability to write great hooks with an upbeat vibe in each track. This feeling is very perceptible through Give Me A Reason, Oxygen or Blame it on You besides Hero and Reach me Down.

Track Give me A Reason is clearly my favorite song and an upcoming hit single without a doubt.

Lead vocalist Kat Perkins is quite impressive. She is a blend of Kim Wilde and Lzzy Hale. You are going to love her. Trust me. As you know, female singers are not my "cup of tea". Here, it is different. Her singing is vibrant , nuanced and extremely expressive. Her "boys" deliver a perfect punchy wave of guitars/bass duo backed by a tasteful drum playing. Solo guitar not to miss in One Bad Bitch. Bass line recommended in Suffocating and One Bad Bitch.
